

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the generation and production of novel thermostable, organic solvent stable and pH tolerant lipase gene variants. The invention also relates to 5 methods of selecting lipase variants for high temperatures and for their purification.